

The OSAGE WEDDING PROJECT HAS A WEBSITE

A website has been created to support broader community participation in the development of a museum exhibition by the Sam Noble Museum and the Osage Tribal Museum. We are working to create an exhibition and book on Osage Weddings and the incorporation of traditional Osage wedding regalia in the "Paying for the Drum" ceremony of the modern Elonshka Dances. The site contains photographs from public and private collections and provides opportunities for people to contribute to the identification of the people, places and dates of the events depicted in these photographs.

Visit the site at www.osageweddings.com
